Santa Clara, CA: Siliconbrite Technologies Inc. announces an exciting new global partnership with leading global distributor of semiconductors and electronic components Mouser Electronics.

"SiliconBrite is excited to partner with Mouser Electronics to expand our global outreach, and together with Mouser, will further enable our product portfolio to boost end-product quality in industrial and consumer applications," says SiliconBrite's CEO and Co-founder, Barr Karagozlu. "Partnering with Mouser we will also be able to increase support for a global outreach of customers."

Mouser will distribute SiliconBrite Technologies' SBT300x portfolio, which includes the company's newest product, the SBT3000 Smart and Autonomous Power Line AC Switch Controller, which replaces 23 distinct ICs with a single IC. Advanced active-control technology of the SBT300x family includes a unique architecture that automatically identifies AC overvoltage and undervoltage problems. It isolates the power line from the load in a safe manner until the AC input voltage returns to normal levels.

"We're very excited to add SiliconBrite Technologies' world-class semiconductor solutions to our line card," said Kristin Schuetter, Vice President, Supplier Management for Mouser Electronics. "We look forward to our business partnership to expand SiliconBrite's global customer base and revenue through our e-commerce expertise and exceptional customer service"
